Casual, part-time & full-time

An employee, including a shiftworker, can be hired as:

It is important to know the type of employment because pay rates, leave and other entitlements are different.

Fixed term contract employees

Fixed term contract employees are employed for a specific period of time or task. For example a 6 month contract where employment ends after 6 months.

Fixed term employees are different to permanent employees who are employed on an ongoing basis until the employer or employee ends the employment relationship.

Fixed term contract employees are usually full-time or part-time employees.

Full-time or part-time fixed term employees are generally entitled to the same wages, penalties and leave as permanent employees. An award or registered agreement may provide extra terms and conditions for a fixed term employee.

Best practice tip

Make sure new employees know their:

- employment status
  - full-time, part-time or casual
  - permanent or fixed term contract
- classification level
- hours of work
- pay rate.
