

Annual leave

Annual leave (also known as holiday pay) allows an employee to be paid while having time off from work.

The entitlement to annual leave comes from the National Employment Standards \(www.fairwork.gov.au/employee-entitlements/national-employment-standards/default\) .

Awards, enterprise agreements and other registered agreements \(www.fairwork.gov.au/Dictionary.aspx?TermID=2034\) can't offer less than the National Employment Standards but they can give more annual leave.

Who is entitled to annual leave?

All employees (except for casual employees) get paid annual leave.

How much annual leave does an employee get?

Full-time and part-time employees get 4 weeks of annual leave, based on their ordinary hours of work.

Example: annual leave for part-time employees

Jane is a part-time employee who works 20 hours per week for a year.

During one year, she will accumulate 80 hours of annual leave (the equivalent of 4 weeks work for her).

Shiftworkers

Shiftworkers may get up to 5 weeks of annual leave per year.

Find information about annual leave for shiftworkers in your award by selecting from the list below.

How does annual leave accumulate?

Annual leave accumulates from the first day of employment, even if an employee is in a probation period.

The leave accumulates gradually during the year and any unused annual leave will roll over from year to year.

Annual leave accumulates when an employee is on:

- paid leave such as paid annual leave and paid sick and carer's leave
- community service leave including jury duty
- long service leave.

Annual leave does not accumulate when the employee is on:

- unpaid annual leave
- unpaid sick/carer's leave
- unpaid parental leave
- unpaid family and domestic violence leave.

The Australian Government's Paid Parental Leave Scheme is not considered to be paid leave. An employee does not accumulate annual leave while being paid by the Paid Parental Leave Scheme, if the person is taking unpaid leave from their employer at this time.

Leave does not accumulate for a period of annual leave that has been cashed out.
